The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(a) the invention was known or used by others in this country, or patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country, before the invention thereof by the applicant for a patent.

Claims 1-20 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(a) as being anticipated by Ramalingam WO 01/95312 A1.

As to claim 1, Ramalingam teaches in a distributed voice recognition system (Fig.2), an apparatus comprising:

A front end processor (32) for processing voice data (30) for a voice recognition system, where the front end processor is configured to receive different configuration file (24) at different times; and

A device (50) configured for providing the configuration files (24) on a communication link at different times (abstract; Fig.3; pg.6).

As to claims 2-3, Ramalingam teaches a wireless communication link (Fig.1) and where a digital front end processor for extracting feature data (20).

As to claim 4, Ramalingam teaches where the front-end processor is programmed to process the voice signal and extract feature data according to the configuration file it received (Fig.1).

As to claims 5-6, Ramalingam teaches a distributed speech recognition system, where the voice recognition is located remotely, including a communication network for conveying the configuration file and the feature data (Fig.2

Claims 7-20 are analogous to claims 1-6 and are rejected by Ramalingam for the foregoing reasons.
